

People from history are considered better than the people in current society and mentioned as heroes. This is because no statue or history is written about the rest 99.9% of common folk which lived in the past.

Khawar Nehal
19 May 2018